AN SHOTS AND KILLS WIFE SHE JUMPS THROUGH WINDOW

On Officers Attempting to Make Arrest.

Geneva Ala Aug 31.—While in apparently drunken frenzy W D McKinnon, member of a prominent family of this place, shot and killed his wife early today and now is in jail on a charge of murder. After firing the bullet through his wife McKinnon attempted to shoot a deputy sheriff and the town marshal when the two officers neared the door of his room. McKinnon was under arrest. McKinnon's aim was not true however when he took a shot at the officers and the bullet went wide of its mark.

Dothanians on Geneva's principal street were startled early today by the report of a pistol shot followed immediately by the scream of a woman and then they were horrified to see Mrs. Julia McKinnon jump from a place in a window of her residence to the ground below. A moment afterwards when help reached her she was found to be dying with a bullet through her body. Her husband W D McKinnon was seen standing in the room from which Mrs. McKinnon fell with a gun in his hand.

Within a few minutes Deputy Sheriff Beach and Town Marshal Griffin were on the scene and entered the house together. As they neared the door of the room in which McKinnon was standing he fired one shot at them but missed. McKinnon made no further resistance and was arrested and placed in jail with the charge of murder. His wife doctored without him. It is said that Mrs. McKinnon had been on a drunk spree for some days and the position in the shot, his wife while in a drunken frenzy. Both McKinnon and his wife are members of prominent families and Mrs. McKinnon is survived by two daughters by a former marriage, neither of whom were at home at the time of the tragedy.

The tragedy has created a great deal of excitement in Geneva and the surrounding country.

HOUSTON'S COTTON CROP IS BEHIND

Houston county's cotton crop is turning out far behind expectations. From flattering prospects three weeks ago it is conservatively estimated that the crop has declined 10 to 20 per cent. Old cotton appears dead and is turning yellow. The cotton has suffered severely from shedding and has nothing like an average or normal fruitage. The recent rains have checked the deterioration to a large extent but irreparable damage had already been done when the rains came and it is now too late to expect much from blooms or renewed growth at this time. A late fall might give small addition to what is now assured but this is a prospect and cannot be counted on. A well posted man states that the crop in this section is not over 50 per cent normal.

COOL WEATHER MAY COME SOUTH LATER PART WEEK

No Indications of West Indian Disturbance is Seen

Washington Sept 1.—Warm weather in the east and southwest and a cool wave in the northwest were predicted last night by the Weather Bureau for the first part of this week.

It is likely the weekly bulletin states that this cool change will advance eastward and envelop the plains states and the upper Mississippi valley by Wednesday on Thursday and the eastern and southern states the latter part of the week. Local frosts will occur by the middle of the week in the far northwest.

A disturbance that is now over the northern Rocky Mountain region will move eastward attended by local showers and thunder storms and cover the great central part of the day and the Atlantic states Wednesday or Thursday. Otherwise the week will be one of generally fair weather.

There are no indications at the present time of a disturbance in the West Indies.

PRESIDENT AND FAMILY WORSHIP IN CHURCH

Cornish N. H. Sept 1.—President Wilson and his family motored several miles from here today to attend church services. They were worshippers in a rural congregation of half a hundred. The church a simple frame building, with an old fashioned interior was decorated with American flags. Except for the usual prayer for the President of the United States there was no reference in the sermon to the distinguished visitor.

The President and his family took a long automobile ride in the afternoon. Today he expects to play golf on the Southampton Links at Hanover N. H.

The President has been receiving long radio messages from the White House on the Mexican situation but no announcements have been made of any change in the situation.

ADMINISTRATION PERLS BY-DOUGHER BY STATEMENTS FROM MEXICO CITY RELATIVE TO THE PENDING NEGOTIATIONS.

Washington, Sept 1.—Secretary of State Bryan upon his return yesterday from a short lecture trip announced that nothing had been received at the State Department from Mexico City to cause any alarm or to change the diplomatic situation that exists between the government and the provisional government in Mexico City.

The secretary remained at his home all day yesterday, keeping in touch with the state department by telephone and was glad of the opportunity to get a rest. A few messages were received from the embassy at Mexico City relating to routine developments such as supplying Americans with means to leave Mexico and a brief message from the special American envoy John Lind at Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind, it was reasserted, would remain in Vera Cruz, at least so far as administration of the state is concerned. That the administration is content to wait for expected developments, is apparent from a letter from President Wilson, directing him to remain in Coahuila, N. M., over Labor Day.

Reports of few orders for mobilization of troops in Mexico by the provisional authorities caused no excitement in official circles here. At the war and navy departments officers were on duty all day, but no reports from the Mexican border were received regarding attempts to smuggle arms into Mexico in violation of the strict neutrality order of President Wilson.

The administration, it was reported, is encouraged by statements emanating from Mexico City which give strong indication that the provisional authorities do not regard negotiations with the United States at an end, and that they are expecting to hear further from the American confidential agent.

Whether Mr. Lind has received any further instructions from President Wilson since the latter went to the summer capital, has not been announced, nor is there any official statement as to Mr. Lind's intention to reply to the last note from Senator Gurnea, the secretary of foreign affairs for the provisional government.

Tonight it was stated that he resorted to anti-American demonstrations had been received. This generally was regarded as a favorable sign. In view of the fact that the exodus of Americans is reported to have aroused much feeling.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lantry and Mrs. Albert Oils and Horton, are spending the week in Lynn Haven, Va.

In anticipation of a large class this season Mrs. Cole requests an early application for lessons where one wishes a choice of hour.

The crowd in the parlor consisted of a man, a girl and a lamp. "Two is company," protested the man, whereupon the lamp obligingly went out.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1931

Some landladies completely rove up a candidate.

Governor O'Neal left going to stay out of the state long enough to allow Walter Reed to take the governor's seat at the capitol.

The man who objects to almost everything, is about as bad as the man who records your move, and then not what sort of a move it is.

Those who enjoyed "Three Weeks" and kept it hid about the house will be glad to see the new story in the news that Evelyn Thaw is to write the story of her life.

And when cotton did begin to crack open it got on the streets of Dothan mighty prompt. And, if nothing happens more than cotton, Dothan will walk around Montgomery, and all other Alabama towns this year, in cotton receipts. And cotton receipts isn't the only thing that Dothan leads in; others could be named.

AND A GOOD ONE, TOO.

If Congressman Clayton's appointment to the Senate sticks there will be a punnier in the Third District after his seat. One of these gentlemen is Hon. Byrd Q. Farmer. He is no farmer, however, but is a lawyer—Mountain State No. Byrd Farmer is no farmer, but he is used to be, like almost everybody else in this Mob of the Wiregrass.

The news pictures show us the Bryan home at Lincoln, and the Secretary Bryan home at Washington, which rents for $5,000 a year, and when one reads more of Byrd's "Price of Place," it is not natural to see how it takes bushels of money to run with the gang in Washington. Bryan has so handled his finances that no one has called any of his money tainted money, and if he finds it necessary to take in work after supper, as it were in order to keep expenses paid, then we suppose he will have to do it.

SETTING HIM RIGHT.

During Mr. Comer's administration he had a law passed exempting cotton mills from taxation for a period of ten years. At that time he owned two cotton mills. We don't know the value of these cotton mills but they are not worth less than a hundred thousand dollars each and possibly twice that amount. Placing the valuation at the lowest possible figure Mr. Comer saved in taxes by the passage of that bill $30,000. He now owns three cotton mills. This exemption will expire during the term of the next governor. In view of these facts it is necessary to ask why Mr. Comer wants to be Governor again?—Oneonta Southern Democrat.

The Eagle is not fighting Mr. Comer's battles, but the above does him an injustice, and we merely call attention to it, feeling that our contemporary had no intention of misrepresenting the facts. The act exempting cotton mills from taxation, was passed in 1905, being approved by Governor Jelks October

Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Now everybody can know and enjoy the crisp goodness of fresh baked soda crackers without going to the baker's oven.

In 1903, over thirty years before he ever became governor, the act exempted from cotton mill taxation in Alabama between January 1, 1902 and February 1, 1907 for a period of ten years. Mountain Eagle.

In the language of one of our prominent citizens: "Now don't you see? It is the easiest thing in the world to start something, and a harder matter to stop it. Six months from now less informed papers will be using the top of this article, but they won't be bottom.

A SEAMLESS NEGRO.

The other day a happy looking, darky stopped at the window of the Herald office and the editor noticed the peaceful and contented smile that played around his lips. He was led into an interesting conversation with him. When being asked how much cotton he would raise the negro replied about half a bale or a bale and a half. We were somewhat surprised at his reply and asked the reason.

Well, he said that is all I planted for. I just planted a little plot of land that I had left over in cotton and haven't given as much attention to it. I banks on water melons, low peas, peaches, potatoes, corn, plenty of chickens, hogs, and good cows. What I want to raise cotton for? You just got a little money in the fall, buy a sweet suit of clothes and blow the sweat in by Christmas. Then starve to death the rest of the year. Now I live happy, has plenty good maw, all the year round and always have enough things to sell to give me all the spending money I want.

I'm independent. I am and happy too. Got a little bank account and don't owe nobody. Keeps my steel fat and rolling and don't have to buy nothing but my clothes. I feed them on home raised corn. When asked did he fear the approach of the boll weevil he replied, "No sir. What harm can they do me? It is just those fool niggers that don't raise nothing but cotton that the boll weevil will clean up."—Canebrake Herald.

Run in the Family.

Now here's a little story that John Allen of Mobile had used to tell says the New York Press. When Allen was running for office early in his career he met an old family servant who greeted him cheerfully with this salutation:

Oh, to hear of you holding of free Negro John. Just like your father, who bring me up.

What's the matter with you, rejoined Allen. I'm not holding any office.

Oh, you mean John you hold the office. State office as your father used to hold.

Why what office is that?

Candidate, Master John. Candidate. Seems to run in the family to hold that office.

Not too firmly my dear. Always open to conviction you know.

Of course of course. Nothing funny, please free sugar? Yes yes. The landlady's face darkened.

Why you've had two lumps at ready!

Then she hurriedly drew the bowl across the damask and covered it with a fringed napkin.

Mr. Dorsey has the detectives at work looking up additional evidence against Frank. Determined that if a new trial should be granted he will be ready to make an even stronger case than before.

TRIAL OF THE 4-11 TRAIN IN HOMEBURG

George Fitch, the Illinois man, is writing a series of Homeburg sketches for the American Magazine. In the September number he tells about the arrival of the 4-11 train in Homeburg. The following is an extract:

It's the town pastime. We all do it. Whenever a Homeburg man has nothing else to do at four o'clock he steps over to the depot and joins the long line which leans up against the depot wall and keeps it in place during the crisis. Some of them haven't missed a roll call in years. Old Bill Dorgan, the drayman, has stood on the platform every day since the line was built. Even on ship. Josh James, the colored porter of the Cosmopolitan hotel, knows more to do, in a than William J. Bryan. If he was absent from his post the engineer wouldn't know where to stop the train. The old men come crawling down on the days and see their selves for an hour before the train arrives. The boys sneak slyly down on their way from school and stand in flocks worshipping the train. The butcher who is bigger than the Washington Monument to them. There's the headlight half a mile down the track. She's coming fast ten minutes ago and, just because you've been lonesome all afternoon and need exercise, you slip into your coat and hustle down just as the 4-11 depot. No 11 comes in with a crash and a real bell ringing, steam puffing off every brake, yelling, platform loaded, expect you intense confusion, terrific all nervous a tingle and fat old Jack Ball the conductor.

IT BEHOOVES ALL MANKIND TO GET INTO THEIR NEW FALL SUITS

IT ALREADY BEGINS TO FEEL CHILLY AROUND THE EDGES

Step in and look over our line of Fall Woolens. You'll find warm substantial Fabrics and Weaves in the season's colors and shades pleasing to particular dressers.

For can find time to get away during its strenuous length for more than a day or two at a time. But think about it now. Don't the man who runs off on an excursion once or twice during the summer, or parks his family up and goes to a nearby lake or river for a good day's fishing, harvest just as many and as good beans at the end of the season as you who were too busy for that sort of thing?

Would you be any poorer in dollars and cents at the end of the season if you squandered a day each month and an hour or two each day in simply enjoying yourself and your family?

ORCHARD DENTISTRY

In the Garden and Orchard Department of the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears the following:

Whether it is a shade or fruit tree a little judicious treatment of a cavity will often save the tree from many years of usefulness. Whether it is a branch of the main trunk the treatment will be the same. First all decayed or apparently decaying or diseased wood should be removed with a sharp chisel or knife until perfectly sound heart wood is exposed. Immediately wash the wound with a solution of copper sulphate in the proportion of one pound of sulphate to five gallons of water.

As soon as this has been done fill the cavity with a thin mortar made by mixing one part of cement with three parts of clean sand.

When it has become stiff but not hard face it on the outside with thin cement using a trowel.

smooth the cement over all parts that have become injured. If a cavity or split should occur near a fork of the tree, it would be an additional safeguard to put a long bolt through both branches so as to hold them together. When the cement hardens in a cavity the trunk will be perfectly safe and sound.

That's Why We Handle Them

Every Weber Wagon We Sell Is Inspected Four Times

Instead of waiting until you need a wagon and then taking the first that's offered you, find out in advance which wagon will give you the best service. Buy the wagon that will stand up for the longest time and be easiest on your horse.

That wagon is a Weber. Here's why. Each Weber wagon is thoroughly inspected. The lumber used is selected from large purchases of first grade oak and hickory for wheels and gears, the finest yellow or bay poplar for box sills, and long leaf yellow pine for bottoms.

Every stick of this lumber is carefully inspected, and each part cut from it is again inspected when it is shaped and ironed. The third inspection is made just before the wagon is painted, and assures perfect fitting of every part. The final inspection is made when the wagon is ready for delivery. Four inspections to make sure that you get just what you pay for when you buy a Weber wagon.

Drop in the next time you come to town and look over our line of Weber wagons. We are proud of them.

Are Your Children Ready for School?

IN a few days we will hear the tap of the gong that calls your children to school. They will be better prepared, from a physical standpoint, if careful selection of their footwear is made.

Thoughtful mothers recognize the value of properly fitted shoes. They come here because we know the art of fitting children properly. We fit them with SELZ SHOES because they are made of REAL LEATHER, not paper or split leather scraps. We prefer SELZ SHOES. They use the same care and quality of leather in making children's shoes as used in the manufacture of men's and women's shoes and they're guaranteed.

Have you seen the new "SELZ WAUKEN-PHAST" SHOES for children—new this Fall. They are positively the finest and most sensible children's shoe we ever saw. Others for men and women.

THAW'S ATTORNEYS SPEND SUNDAY IN CONFERENCES

UNKNOWN SAYS IN WHIT OF HARRIS CONFER IN SUNDAY
ED, APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN BY THE DEFENSE.

Shardrooke, Quebec, Sept. 1.— Harry K. Thaw's lawyers, swept off their feet Saturday by the sudden move of William Travers Jerome in obtaining a writ of habeas corpus requiring Thaw's production in the Superior Court here tomorrow spent Sunday in conference and last night have renewed expressions of their belief that the writ would not be sustained.

"If it is sustained," said W. K.
McKown of the Thaw forces "there is always recourse to appeal, and I am inclined to think that appeal to the Court of Appeals or the Court of Appeals would act as a stay and hold our effort in all safe from disposition. In the face of such circumstances I do not see how New York state can make any move until the Kings Bench convenes in October."

Thaw spent the day in his cell writing letters and dictating to his stenographer. As was the case last Sunday, there was no colloquy service in the prison. Several women called and gave the fugitive flowers. In fact his cell has been banked with them ever since his confinement.

Miss Kate Burnham left today for a few days' visit to friends at Kilney.

J. B. Harris left today for a few days' visit to Montgomery.

The Thaw case will be on the docket for the first time here for the State. Thaw is a speed man and fields well and promises to become a better

NO WOODWARD TICKET ASSERT HIS FRIEND

MAYOR WILL BE BASIS OF
ON TUESDAY EXCEPT THE CHARTER AND ECONOMY
POINTS

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—While Mayor James E. Woodward is reflecting on to which of the candidates will support in the 1920 chicago bundle elections, his friend declared that he will be hands off on every issue but the charter and his of right economy.

There is no Woodward ticket out of the candidate who will go before the people on September 9, one of the mayor's close friends declined last night. The mayor is too far to make a public statement. Mayor Woodward's statement. He said that he is preparing a statement on in-plain his attitude on the charter issue. He admitted that he will ask the people to reject the charter which was approved by the legislature.

The city of Atlanta was $700-

000 in debt. He it costs when I too office and I made a promise to the people that I would get it out of the hole. In said I am going to keep my promise. I don't need council to help me the work. I have long ago given up the idea of getting in on the whole issue is up to the people.
If they want to elect politicians at once and perpetuate in office the who are already there it is all right with me. If the people will elect business men on the council of Atlanta they will help me in my administration.

Mayor Woodward declared that aside from a statement he will a-sue for publication and in which he will urge the people to repudiate council charter, he will take no part in the campaign against it.

As he is confident that it will be defeated at the polls.
If the charter is to den the mayor will make another effort next year to give the city a change of government. His scheme is to have two committees appointed to draft two charters. One committee will be selected from the ranks of straight set and out commission government advocates, and the other committee will be selected from those who favor the administration.

A committee such as this is not in effect. The charter drafters will be selected from the ranks of the administration.

Miss Henrietta Farnsworth

Henrietta Farnsworth, one of the richest young women in Holland whose father is a wealthy importer and whose mother was an Indian Princess, whose title reverted to her daughter along with a considerable fortune, landed in New York on Tuesday and met her fiancé, Elv Marty, a Hollander of humble birth, who has been engaged in civil engineering work in Philadelphia. Miss Farnsworth said she could not wait for Marty to "make good" as he called it so she picked up and came to America to marry him and have him share her fortune. Marty knew nothing of her coming until he received a wireless message from the Rotterdam on Monday. The couple have known each other since childhood and have been engaged for over a year.

SONG.

MOTHER'S BOY.

When I glance backward on the long ago,
And view the pitfalls you helped me to shun—
The hidden snares of Hate, the sloughs of Woe,
The fens of Sin, ashamed to glimpse the sun—
While not unmindful of my mint of gold—
Or that Fame on my efforts may have smiled,
I'm thankful most of all, in days of old
When God made me He made me, Dad, your child

When I look forward, through the years to be,
Beyond the mists that dim the ages spanned,
And then behold the trusting tot of three,
Whose baby fingers grip my outstretched hand—
I pray of Him, the great and mighty One,
Unseen but living out in space afar,
That I may be unto my little son
The good, the perfect father that you are!

—By Ralph Methven Thomson

Sometimes in the hush of the evening hour,
When the shadows creep from the west,
I think of the twilight songs you sang
And the boy you lulled to rest—
The weak little boy with the tousled head
That so long ago was thine
I wonder if sometimes you long for that boy
O little mother of mine,
And now he has come to man's estate,
Grown stalwart in body and strong,
And you'd hardly know that he was the lad
Whom you lulled with your lullaby song
The years have altered the form and the life,
But his heart is unchanged in time,
And still he is only thy boy as of old
O little mother of mine,

Master James Crawford entered tumbled about fifty little friends on last Friday afternoon at his home on West Main street, celebrating his seventh birthday.

Many games dear to childish hearts were enjoyed after which the little guests were invited into the dining room which was decorated in a most unique and original manner.

The center of the table was a miniature lake surrounded by ferns and trees. The scene was most real by the presence of tiny ducks floating on the surface of the lake.

Here the birthday cake containing nine new candles was placed. Delicious cream and cake was served.

Each little guest was presented with a souvenir of the occasion in the form of a doll and the boys with a ball.

Little Master Crawford was voted a champion, and a real host.
